Oliver MacLeod Now Offering 1" – 2100° Stainless Steel Chimney System Certified for Wood Stoves!

After several months of preparation and testing, Security Chimneys is pleased to announce that its NovaTemp HT6103/Security ASHT chimney has now been approved for use with wood stoves in Canada by Intertek Testing to ULC-S629 standard in 6", 7" and 8" sizes.

Security Chimneys has added rigid and flexible radiation shield and support components to their product offerings. No changes and modifications were required to the chimney system to achieve certification. Only the addition of the premium radiation shields accessories and support components have been added and are required when the chimney is enclosed in a chase or between floors.

You now have two choices of chimneys from ECCO Supply depending upon your application:

2" – 2100° Oliver McLeod HT6000/Security S-2100 in 6", 7", and 8" diameter
OR

1" – 2100° Oliver McLeod HT6100/Security ASHT in 6", 7" and 8" diameter

Note: All Security BIS Fireplaces will now use either of these chimney systems.

The new HT6100 series chimney sections will soon carry a new label explaining the new certification. In the meantime, since product design and construction has not changed, you can use your existing chimney in stock for wood stove application, provided you use the new radiation shield and components as required. (Where needed, a letter of equivalency is available indicating conformity with new certification).

ECCO Supply will have our new stock of 1" – 2100° stainless steel chimneys the first week of October. We will continue to support 2" – 2100° product as required by customers.

In addition, remember we offer Oliver MacLeod/Security Chimneys Double Wall – DW – black double wall smoke pipe with 6" clearance to combustibles.

1" insulation.
Smaller diameter
allows for inside installation with limited space.
